

Cape End Artist Depicted History-In-Making

Although Provincetown people had been enjoying their movies for almost two decades before Mildred McMillen, early Hawthorne pupil, carved the block for this print of the present theatre being built in 1919, the building indicated the solid conviction that screen enjoyment was here to stay. The succeeding years have brought sound to the screen, and the screen into the home by means of television.