St. Peter's Open House Attracts 700 Visitors

Seven hundred Catholics and non-Catholics attended an open house at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church in Provincetown Sunday afternoon. Those who attended were shown displays of Sacred Vessels, Vestments, Confessionals, Altars, and other objects of liturgical interest. Displays, explanations of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and other Catholic devotions, and a tour of the pre-primary school were also offered to the many in attendance. Refreshments prepared and served by the women of the parish climaxed a very interesting afternoon visit to St. Peter's. The Reverend Father Leo J. Duart, pastor of St. Peter's, praised the men of the parish who presented the open house. He told them that "the open house was truly a great success and will be marked by those who attended as a giant step forward in the cause of Christian Unity." In addition to local visitors, there were those present from Orleans, Wellfleet and North Truro. Also attending were clergy from many different churches.

Four Provincetown organizations have made donations toward a 25-bell carrillon, now heard daily from the Church of St. Peter the Apostle. The carrillon works automatically three times daily, for The Angelus at 7 a. m., noon and at 6 p. m., and can be operated also in conjunction with the church organ. It is played during services and may be used during the Christmas season, Blessing of the Fleet and on other occasions. Organizations donating include the Provincetown Fishermen's Association, Walter Welsh Council, Knights of Columbus, St. Peter's Holy Name Society and the Holy Rosary Sodality. The set of bells was made and installed by Francis L. Dodd of Orleans, who operates under the name of Cape Cod Electronic Products. He is a former chief engineer with the Stromberg-Carlson Company.
