Joe Macara is having the ancient shed in the rear of his new building removed—the one where Jimmy Maguire had his sail loft for so many years and where the sails for the Rose Dorothea and other famous sailing vessels were made. As one surveys the waterfront now from Town Wharf there is hardly a building left dating back to the days of Provincetown's maritime greatness.

Same scene as above - September 1946. Pilgrim Monument, left. Arnold's: First schoolhouse on Long Point (and also the old Matheson Clothing Store). Center: the new Lands End Marine Supply, Inc. on site of the J.D.Hilliard store. Maguire's Sail Loft, behind the store. Center Methodist Church, left. Note new net on wharf. Provincetown Cold Storage, smokestack, right.
