"There are about one hundred horses in Provincetown."

July 2nd, 1873

A Provincetown horse—a venerable fellow—has a record of going to Wellfleet in seventeen minutes! When we were first told this we had our misgivings, but we have since been informed by the owner of this Jehu of a horse that it was so. He said he never before saw a horse go so—yet we have a right to our opinion and think just for the looks of things and the impression it will give the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, that he ought to add an hour or two to the time.
